SUGAR

The spirit of cooperation is wonderful.

One woman with a mistaken idea of the rationing program, remarked to a teacher that it would certainly seem funny just to go to a grocery store for sugar.

The teacher explained that the only function of the schools in the rationing program is to register men, women and children, and that after Thursday, the schools will have no further identity with rationing.

"Freeze" Ends

The week-long government "freeze" on sugar was lifted today and grocers were to begin selling sugar on a rationing basis.

Several schools reported declarations of 150 pounds of sugar on hand and at one school a register reported 176 pounds of sugar. There were many persons declaring from 25 to 50 pounds of sugar.

In many instances of large families, the register reported that they had had no sugar for several days, not having had enough on hand when the "freeze" order came. One mother said that for several weeks she had set up a rationing program in her own home and that now her family of seven was accustomed to a smaller quantity of sugar.

Registrants for families in which there are from eight to 10 children appeared before the registrars with long lists of heights, weights, ages, colors of eyes and hair. One mother of a tiny baby, which she was carrying, said she was sorry but she didn't know quite what color of hair the baby would have.

Among the few registrars were a man who professed to having to carry any more eggs and a man who stated that his time was more valuable than the registrar's and that he had been waiting an hour and a half to register. Actual time was 45 minutes.

Work Till Midnight

Although school doors close at 9:30 at night in some of the schools where there were heavy registrations, the registrars worked until midnight. A line of registrants who were in the buildings when the doors were closed.

Following are figures on yesterday's registration, the number of applicants listed first, followed by the figure on the number of books distributed.

How to use your

WAR RATION BOOK

READ THESE

RATION RULES:

IMPORTANT—Before the stamps of the War Ration Book may be used, the person for whom it was issued must sign it as indicated in the book. The name of a person under 18 years of age may be signed either by such person, or by his father, mother or guardian. For future reference, make and keep a record of the serial number of your book and the number of your issuing Ration Board, as indicated in your book.

Your first War Ration Book has been issued to you, originally containing 28 War Ration Stamps. Other books may be issued at later dates. The following instructions apply to your first book and will apply to any later books, unless otherwise ordered by the Office of Price Administration. In order to obtain a later book, the first book must be turned in. You should preserve War Ration Books with the greatest possible care.

1. From time to time the Office of Price Administration may issue Orders rationing certain products. After the dates indicated by such Orders, these products can be purchased only through the use of War Ration Books containing valid War Ration Stamps.
2. The Orders of the Office of Price Administration will designate the stamps to be used for the purchase of a particular rationed product, the period during which each of these stamps may be used, and the amounts which may be bought with each stamp.
3. Stamps become valid for use only when and as directed by the Orders of the Office of Price Administration.
4. Unless otherwise announced, the Ration Week is from Saturday midnight to the following Saturday night.
5. War Ration Stamps may be used in any retail store in the United States.
6. War Ration Stamps may be used only by or for the person named and described in the War Ration Book.
7. Every person must see that this War Ration Book is kept in a safe place and properly used. Parents are responsible for the safekeeping and use of their children's War Ration Books.
8. When you buy any rationed product, the proper stamp must be detached in the presence of the storekeeper, his employee, or the person making delivery on this behalf. If a stamp is torn out of the War Ration Book in any other way than above indicated, it becomes void. If a stamp is partly torn or mutilated and more than one-half of it remains in the book it is valid. Otherwise it becomes void.
9. If your War Ration Book is lost, destroyed, or mutilated, you should report that fact to the local Ration Board.
10. If you enter a hospital, or other institution, and expect to be there for more than 10 days, you must turn your War Ration Book over to the person in charge. It will be returned to you upon your request when you leave.
11. When a person dies, his War Ration Book must be returned to the local Ration Board, in accordance with the Regulations.
12. If you have any complaints, questions, or difficulties regarding your War Ration Book, consult your local Ration Board.

IT'S GOING TO BE A SWEET WAR FROM NOW ON—with the Japs on the losing end! Uncle Sam is giving all of us a chance to roll up our sleeves and make quick work out of it. You may not be able to put on a uniform but the War Ration Book that's in your possession is a certificate that you're in Uncle Sam's army doing the job that's assigned to you.

It's a mighty important job. The success of rationing depends upon that vast army made up of people like you. Rationing was designed to protect you — to see that you get your share.

Rationing is a necessary wartime measure. It curbs hoarding. As in the case of sugar, it permits everyone to get his full share. Be glad this country gives everyone this chance to help win the war!

Rationing does not deprive you of the things you need, but, rather, assures an adequate supply for everyone. Without rationing, others would stock up on supplies for many months to come. Merchants would lose supplies too quickly. An artificial demand is created for certain articles; prices rise. Inflation starts. Your War Ration Book helps protect you against all this. You and your neighbors get an equal share. There is no need for price rises.

Carefully read the Rules at the left—it will only take a few minutes to become familiar with how it works. Take good care of your Ration Book; don't lose it. Present it to the local merchants whenever you buy sugar. They have adequate supplies on hand for everyone in Marion.

News Behind the News

Registration of Women Believed Likely;
Conscription in 1943 is Possibility.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Mr. Roosevelt turned down the idea of registering women for the draft, but he is expressing only a hope. Official planning here is being done on an entirely different basis.

Patronage Problem
Congressmen do not like the way Leon Henderson is establishing his rationing and price control units around the country—about consulting them on patronage. Henderson seems leaning toward state councils of defense for personnel and there are under the governors of states who have their own political entangled.

To keep in good with the congress, however, Henderson is not making a liaison man who will run Henderson's consignment in Capitol Hill.

Shift of Authority
The State Secretary Cor-
dell Hull nor Commerce Secretary James were told by the President of his order directing them to certain functions and transferring them to the board of economic warfare.

Walter H. Hall complained, Roosevelt said something sarcastic about some people in the bureau of the government over-steering his move. By "some people," he meant Milo Perkins who is running the board of economic warfare behind Vice President Wallace's name.

June did not complain although he offered the only serious loss control of raw materials
corporations like the rubber reserve corp.)

The President's warning memorandum Perkins not to take his newfound power too seriously,
but it did not give Hull or Jones
anything except consolation.

Shipments to Russia
The big silent front of the war
the past few weeks has been along the conveyer route to Russia.
Absence of news from it suggests the great bulk of materials from us and from Britain are being pushed through safely.

The concentration of effort
along that line explains why the German sub attack upon our Atlantic coastal lanes was so successful for a time. Our protective destroyers may have been working on more important business.

No Surprise
Fall of Mandalay and loss of Burma caused no surprise here.
Anyone who knew what the British and Chinese had on that front,
fighting against three Jap divisions moving up from the south,
and one mechanized division coming in from Indo-China, knew well the result could not be otherwise.

But the Monsoon season is expected to stabilize matters there just about where they are. Bombing attacks on India, but not invasion, are expected now.

The President had ample backing for opposing his wife. He decried his decision on recommendations of the special security board advisory council of women.
That board decided women would not be needed until next year,
that registration should wait until no shortages made the drafting of women a likely prospect.

At least one prominent member of the board is convinced that not only registration but conscription is certain in 1943.

Thus not much trouble is likely to develop at the White House
dinner table.

A "Complete Victory"
Conclusion-jumpers around the country seem to be leaping in mass to the idea that the war will be over by Christmas, that it is just as good as over now. Hitler is licked, Japan will fold. That is a pleasant but dangerous assumption.

A complete all-out war is suggested by a phrase dropped by Admiral Stark in a minor interview in London. He said this time "we must have complete victory."

The axis has waged an all-out war. Only a satisfactory way it can end is by all-out peace. Last time there was an armistice before an Allied soldier had touched foot on German soil. There followed a political peace wrought
by distortion of Wilson's 14 points.

The French politicians schemed
it as a revenge for French defeat in the Franco-Prussian war. It settled nothing, only allowed time for Germany to rearm and take counter-revenge.

In the World War, according to U. S.
department figures, 4,500 American casualties
were either prisoners or missing. Russia's total in the same classification reached the incredible figure of 2,500,000. Italy and France each had more than 500,000. Great Britain had 191,000. Rumania, official figures reveal, had only three, but Rumania's total casualties were only 2 of 1 per cent of its mobilized forces, compared with total casualties of as high as 76
per cent for the Russians. For all belligerents in the World War, there were 7,750,000 prisoners and missing out of approximately 65,000,000
persons mobilized for war.

Filed For Reference
FOR more than 20 years the people of the United States have harbored a conviction that in any given case, up to and including the postal system, government operation was a poor substitute for private operation. The New Deal, with its itch for political control and its various experiments in that direction, did nothing to change the people's conviction.

War has given the government increased authority over details of business and industrial operation. This is imperative—something that must be done for the sake of unified effort and maximum war production. War, which demands central authority, cannot be fought by private enterprise; it must be fought by government,
using private enterprise to the greatest possible
advantage.

Filed for reference against the day when the war is over and it is proper again to question
the right of government to stand behind the managers of private enterprise telling them what to do is a cryptic comment by C. E. Wilson, president of General Motors, just after ordering suspension of automotive service parts until the government could clarify its policy. Concerning a war production board order which alleged that the corporation had violated an official order, President Wilson said the order "brought to a head the difficulty of operating the corporation's many plants under the impractical, confusing and contradictory material orders of various sections of the war production board."

General Motors, the Hoover Co., which recently got into the same kind of a jam, and many industrial concerns will be the expert witnesses after the war is over in the case of government vs. private operation.

Missing Men

NAVY casualty figures for the first four months of the war revive the layman's
interest in that old category of war casualty—the missing. It includes all men who for one reason or another cannot be accounted for.

Officially, they are neither dead nor alive.
They are missing. While the navy explains that it is not including men known to have been taken prisoner in the classification, prisoners usually are lumped with the missing, to make their actual fate even more obscure.

In the World War, according to U. S.
department figures, 4,500 American casualties
were either prisoners or missing. Russia's total

Pacific Naval Strategy

Why You Don't Hear More of Our Ship Operations.

Wide World Features
American naval forces may land a swift, unexpected punch
on enemy naval units in the Pacific, or raid fortifications on one of the thousands of Japanese-controlled islands, or send carrier-based bombers winging over Japanese territory. But the world may not hear of the operations for days, perhaps weeks. And here's one of the most important reasons:
by triangulation, radio experts
may determine the position of a ship or carrier relaying a report of the operations to headquarters. Through this system, three or more enemy receiving stations would chart the direction from which the signals came, and the point at which the lines cross would be the approximate location of the sender. Planes or submarines thus could pursue the units and perhaps intercept them before they reached friendly waters.

Thus, reports of engagements frequently are withheld even from high officials of the units involved until use of the radio
is permitted.

Geographical Diet

COLUMBIA, Mo. — Missouri
eating habits are geographical.
The University of Missouri,
studying the food that's set upon 30,000 farm tables, found:

The meat-eaters live in the northwest, although chicken and beef consumption is highest in the northwest.

Pork, including side meat, spare
ribs and country ham, is a favorite in the cotton-picking boot heel
country, in the southeast.

Folks of the Ozark country are tomato eaters.

Afterthought

OKLAHOMA CITY.—Deputy Fire Chief Gaylor Wilson was keeping an anxious eye on flood waters sprawling into the east Oklahoma City lowlands when a man stepped out of the darkness,
asked if the river would rise farther. Wilson replied it probably would. "Well, I sorta wanted to know," said the man. "I've already moved my cow and calf out and wondered if I oughta move
my wife and baby, too."

THE BIG ONE RIGHT NOW

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO.
It was Thursday, May 5, 1932.
Japanese military authorities at Shanghai announced they had ordered their troops to begin a withdrawal from positions they had been occupying in the international settlement and adjacent areas.
It was represented as the first step in carrying out an armistice agreement to put an end to the hostilities between China and Japan which had been going on in the Shanghai sector since January.

Thirty-one couples took the state
civil service examination for superintendent and matron of the Marion county children's home.
They were to fill the vacancies left by the retirement of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Niles.

It was announced that the way-farers' lunch room which had been located in the Armory under auspices of the Salvation Army was to be moved soon to 498 West Center street. Meals served at the lunch room since its opening in October and up to April 30 numbered 2,935. Of these 11,420 were served to Marion men and 11,506 to transients.

Arrangements were being made to welcome 200 young men from throughout Ohio for the annual convention of the Ohio Junior Chamber of Commerce May 14-15.
Governor George White was booked for the principal address. Edwin W. King was convention chairman for the Marion Junior Chamber. Others on the committee were Chester Biddle, Ray Lehner and Welcome Cass.

A daughter was born to Mr. and

A civil war which had been going on in China was believed to be at an end. General Wu Pei Fu, commander of the military forces
of the central province, had gained control of Peking and his adversary, Gen. Chang Tso Lin, was in flight toward Mukden with his army shattered.

There had been little activity in Marion political circles with the primary filing time five weeks away. Among the possible candidates were H. Edmund Hill and W. B. Martin for representative to the state legislature on the Republican side and George A.
Orlans, Dale F. Miller and I. R.
Van Aurnum, prospective Democratic aspirants.

W. E. Beeman was reelected superintendent of the Richwood schools for three years. William J. White was reelected principal.

Mrs. E. W. Landrum, 68, died at her home in Prospect after an illness of pneumonia.

A daughter was born to Mr. and
Mrs. George Bauer of near De-Cliff.

Eleven were graduated from Waldo centralized school. They were Misses Opal Donahue, Imo-

PETERSBURG, Ill. — Brothers
Fred F. Finney, III, and David B.
Finney, 52, carry their brother act
pretty far.

They're brother Rotarians and brother Masons. When Fred announced the hospital, brother David followed. The parallel extended to major operations for both,
hardly a week apart, for an identical ailment. They had the same surgeon.

An Old Timer With The Dope Adds
Some Straight Material To Our Sketch Of Les Darcy.

By DAMON RUNYON

MY recent tale of the passing of Les Darcy,
the Australian prizefighter, needs some minor revision, as is generally the case with tales told from memory.

Darcy was the middleweight who slipped out of Australia during the first World War when he was eligible for conscription and came in this country, only to run into a furious combination of criticism as "Slacker Les," whom many old timers think broke his heart and hastened his death.

As to the broken heart I would not know.
I did not talk with Darcy after the bombardment started and could not judge of his mental reaction—the thing called broken heart being something entirely mental and not cardiac, as you know. The official cause of death given at the time was pneumonia, but it seems likely that the most phlegmatic of men would have felt the sting of the barbs pegged at Darcy, so it is quite possible that worry contributed to his general breakdown.

But there was something else, purely physical, and little known at the time that entered into the situation Darcy had what is commonly known as an athletic heart, though he was only about 23 years old. There can be no doubt of this. He was examined at the time of his illness by well known physicians of Memphis, Tenn., where he died on May 24, 1918.

BILLY HAACK, once one of the most famous boxing promoters in the southland, tells me the story in a long letter. It comes to my mind that the general details of Darcy's passage were covered by Joe Williams, the sports writer
in an interview with Haack some months ago,
which I read at the time and should have remembered. Nonetheless, old Billy's story is a bear repetition, if only to straighten out our own version.

Darcy, who had come to this country with a famous reputation because of his victories in Australia over some good American gladiators, was in bad in many states as a result of the sports writers' pasting him on his war record, Haack, then the big promoter in Memphis, with a record of successful promotions longer than a well-rope behind him, had Darcy matched with Len Rowlands of Philadelphia, but the fight got so hot it did not look as if Bill could pull off his show.

Darcy was in New Orleans with Fred Gilmore, old time Chicago manager, looking after him. Haack went there and got the pair to return to Memphis with him. He then took Darcy to Mayor T. C. Ashcroft and after a talk with the fighter, the mayor said if Darcy would enlist in the army he would see that he got the chance to ply his pugilistic vocation. Haack then escorted Les to the aviation camp and field at Memphis. The Australian was sworn in as a soldier.

A SHCROFT gave his permission for the training quarters for Darcy at Dominick Zan-ones' place at the race track. The following day, Darcy became ill at the old Peabody hotel
and Haack called in his club physician, Dr.
S. E. Pincus, who said Les had an athlete's heart. Haack then sent for Dr. Bryce For-taine, a southern heart specialist, who sent Darcy to Gartley-Ramsey hospital, where he confirmed the diagnosis.

He said Darcy was a very sick young man and worked hard on him, but the fighter developed pneumonia and died. Haack, Gilmore and Mick Hawkins of Australia were with him when the end came. Old Billy says Les had every attention possible. The funeral was held by the Collins undertaking establishment of Memphis and he was one of the pall bearers.

Billy, who retired from the pugilistic game about four years ago after 29 years of it during which he refereed 11,000 fights to decisions,
had no way of knowing how good a fighter
Darcy might have been, except by his record.
He says Les seemed to be a nice chap. That was also the opinion of other Americans who became acquainted with the young fellow after his arrival here.

Where the Money Goes
The government's anti-inflation program,
which is expected to change the spending habits
of many citizens, has revived interest in a survey made to show how money is spent. The survey facts are based on the survey conducted as an official government study during the middle of the previous decade.

City families in middle income brackets spend about a third of their income on food, almost another third on housing and household operation. But more than 30,000,000 persons in the United States live on farms, where food and housing are minor problems in budgets.

In families with more than $3,000 incomes
about 10 per cent was spent on transportation, mostly automobiles. Here is a large source of income that may be released. Families living near the breadwinners' place of business may save money and use it for other expenses when they lay up their cars, or use them less.

Percentage of city incomes going into food
is remarkably constant as the income increases.
In the $600-$1,200 group, 36 1/2 per cent of total expenditures was on food; in the $2,400-and-higher group, 31 1/2 per cent. But items of food bought varied sharply. As income increased, more was spent, in order, on cream, grapefruit,
fresh peas, lamb chops, pastry, tomatoes, veal cream, chicken and steak. These, presumably, are the foods for which substitutes are found
first as the shoe begins to pinch.

Of all expenditures by city families in the $600-$1,200 group, 31 1/2 per cent went for household operation and housing; for families with incomes of $3,000 and over, the figure was only 21 1/2 per cent. However, the greatest variation in percentages of expenditures was in the following items: Contributions, education, automobiles, clothing, recreation. As these are the items on which families spend more as their incomes rise, they probably will be the items on which less is spent as expenditure income decreases.

Serious View of Funnies
BECKLEY, W. Va.—From now on a Beckley clerkman may expand his newspaper reading to sections other than the funny page.

Arrested on a charge of driving without a proper operator's license, he told Judge Oppie Hedrick he didn't know the license he had was outdated.

"Ignorance of the law is no excuse," asserted
the judge. "Don't you read the newspapers?"

"I mostly read the funnies,"

"Well try reading the front page now and then—$10 and costs."

One Good Reason for Cuffless Pants
BRISTOW, Okla.—Law Nichols says cuffless pants have at least one good point. Fellows who tell their wives they are out to lodge or a board meeting cannot be embarrassed the next morning when a red poker chip falls out of the cuff
as the pants are being dusted.

But I MUST get home early. Mom sits up all night and worries about ME and pop sits up all night and worries about the car."

Armor Plate for the Army

On factory assembly lines - in home dining rooms - can be found the evidence of the double duty job that gas is doing today. Whether it's tempering steel for tanks or broiling steak for the family - America wants gas as the fuel. Those qualities of speed, dependability, flexibility are in demand today as never before in factory and home. Uncle Sam wants - and must have - tanks, planes, guns, ships as fast as they can be produced. He needs healthy families, too - families that eat the right food properly cooked to provide maximum nutritive values. So, gas has been given a double responsibility in America's all-out war effort - and, in accepting that responsibility with a determination that spells Victory. Yes, on the home front - on the industrial front - gas is "doing double duty" with a single purpose - to help win the war.

Bricker Renews Hunt for Adjutant General

COLUMBUS, O., May 5—Gov. Bricker started all over today in his search for an adjutant general.

Milo Warner of Toledo, the governor's first choice as a successor to Whittier S. Bird, rejected the position yesterday because, he said, he could serve his country better as a member of the state defense council and the American Bar association's defense group.

Bird recently was granted a leave of absence to rejoin the 37th division for active service.

NEWS AT A GLANCE

LONDON, May 5—A Zurich dispatch to Exchange Telegraph said today Adolf Hitler's Volksgenossen Zeitung had called upon Germany's war industry for increased production in a last-minute appeal to the people.

MELBOURNE, AUSTRALIA—Twelve air force men have now reached Australia after sailing for 44 days across 1,500 miles of open sea from Java in a lifeboat, a feat which naval authorities acclaimed as one of the great open boat voyages of history.

Saturday Night Farewell Awaits Trouser Cuffs

NEW YORK, May 5—Gentlemen, let's raise the alley to settle this cuff-on-trouser argument. It's got to be settled by midnight Saturday.

Here's what the male civilian population is fighting over and for: Men still have until Saturday night to order pants with a graceful cuff attached—from a tailor. After Saturday, cuffs are taboo by war production board orders.

A lot of men are hurrying to get under the deadline. But more males are flocking in to have cuffs removed from last year's models.

The fact is, say the leading merchant tailors, the new style is perfect and within a few months a guy will look slightly out of date with cuffs on his trousers.

But those who want cuffs are adamant. Some of these clients ask for left-over strip "So Ma can sew 'em on."

Most of these complaints have come from men who have been buying cuffs pants from ready-made clothing stores, where the cuff has become effective last March 30.

The tailors were given until May 30, originally, to stop cutting pants, but this order has been clarified. No trousers may be cut with cuffs after May 9, and none delivered with cuffs after May 30.

The war production board has announced that bootleggers of cuffs would be liable to a $10,000 fine and a year in prison. That means, said the WPA, that a man who sews his own pants' cuff back on after May 30 is a bootlegger.

She was a native of Mt. Victory and a lifelong resident of the community.

Surviving with the husband are two daughters, Gladys and Mary, both at home, a sister and three brothers, including Freeman Patrick of Bellefontaine.

Friends may call at the Shuman funeral home, where the funeral will be conducted Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. in Hall 1, which was made in late summer.

Study School Salary Problem

The board, following an established policy, granted Mr. Dowler a leave of absence. Approval also was given to Miss Elsie Hammond of the Central faculty to remain on the school staff until such time as she is called to service, at which time a leave of absence granted on March 30 in expectation of a call on April 17 will be effective.

Mr. Hammond did not receive the expected notice to report for induction.

Substitutes Employed

Mr. Holt reported employing three substitute teachers for the remainder of the school year. Mrs. Pearl Duff took to assist Miss Margaret Seiter who has a first-grade enrollment of 51 at the Pearl Street building. Mrs. Ed LaBau to replace Miss Gray at Silver and Mrs. George Niemi at the Mark Street building to replace Miss Maurita Yeagle who resigned to be married.

Mr. Huffman, employed for his annual summer music program, will conduct the senior band in weekly rehearsals for eight weeks, give two concerts and will give two weeks' service prior to the opening of school in the fall, preparing the band for fall athletic activities.

Mr. Holt told the board that the Yellow Cab Co., which has a contract to transport children to and from the Crippled Children's school, informed him last week that because of lack of drivers they would be forced to discontinue the service. The board voted to accept the Safety Cab Co.'s bid of 60 cents a round trip per day per child for the remainder of the school year, the 10 cent daily increase over the former contract. The board is reimbursed by the state for this expenditure.

Immunitization Discussed

Mr. Holt told the board of President Roosevelt's immunization program and suggested a "persuasive educational campaign" in Marion city for vaccination against smallpox and diphtheria. A letter of the Marion board of health was transferred to this and other war production committees.

For the board's information Mr. Holt said he would attend a meeting of the Central Ohio Vocational Guidance conference Friday in Columbus and was among a group of school men selected to attend a meeting May 18 in Columbus with representatives of the National Manufacturer's association to learn what industry can do for schools.

PRICE SUBSIDIES FIND LITTLE FAVOR

But Plan May Be Accepted in Some Cases.

WASHINGTON, May 5 — Government subsidies to maintain the frozen price level seemed likely today to win reluctant congressional approval, but only if it became apparent that such action was necessary to provide canned fruits for the grocer's shelf and cuffed suits for the clothing store rack.

Observing that relief must be afforded manufacturers and processors caught in the squeeze of increasing costs and a frozen sales price, Senator George (D-Ga.) said he had no doubt that subsidies would come to be paid in some instances, if the March ceilings fixed by the office of price administration were to be retained intact.

The price control law delegates the OPA authority to "make subsidy payments to domestic producers to obtain the maximum necessary production" and officials of the agency have said consideration was being given to adoption of such a policy, probably covering clothing, canned fruits, sugar and coal.

George expressed belief that any such subsidies ought to be limited largely to producers and processors of commodities which were manufactured or produced several months in advance of the March date of price freezing.

For instance, he said one canner of fruit juices had informed him that he was going out of business. The canner, George said, had put up the fruit juices several months prior to March and they had been sold to the retailer in March on the basis of the lower cost of production last fall.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) suggested that it would be much simpler merely to adjust prices so that the payment of subsidies would not be necessary.

Taft said it was his view that unless wages were controlled, it would become almost impossible to keep prices in line, since labor costs figured so prominently in production costs.

The board, following an established policy, granted Mr. Dowler a leave of absence. Approval also was given to Miss Elsie Hammond of the Central faculty to remain on the school staff until such time as she is called to service, at which time a leave of absence granted on March 30 in expectation of a call on April 17 will be effective.

Strike at Plant Making Navy Engines Called Off

By The Associated Press

SPRINGFIELD, O., May 5 — A strike of 225 employees of the National Supply Co. was called off today at the request of Nick J. Smith of Cincinnati, secretary of the AFL International Molders' Union.

The men walked out Saturday following a dispute over wage scales. F. J. Donahue, industrial relations director for the company, said he did not report the scale, nor what the workers were asking.

Union and company officials will meet tomorrow in an effort to settle the dispute, he added. The company makes diesel engines for the navy.

British occupation of French Madagascar, with two-fisted backing by the United States, not only because we have beaten the Japs to a base of vast strategic importance but because the operation represents the short-sleeve initiative which is going to win this war.

In itself it is a notification to dark-visaged, fox-nosed Pierre Laval—not to start kicking the allied dogs around. Let there be any misunderstanding in the mind of this Frenchman, Washington has warned him bluntly that any warlike action against the occupying forces at Madagascar will be an act of war against the United Nations.

Laval can scarcely fail to interpret this warning as applying not only to Madagascar but to turning the French navy and colonies over to the Germans. There can be small doubt he would like to seize upon the present incident to try to whip the French public up to the point of hostilities against Britain.

However, they are strong for the United States and are well aware that their fate is wrapped up in the allied cause. The French people on the whole are with the allies.

The occupation of the island of Madagascar is the equivalent of a major military victory. The Japs apparently were about to occupy it themselves and had they done so they would have secured virtual control of the whole Indian ocean.

Madagascar safely tucked away, the question will arise whether the allies now will go further and take over the great French base of Dakar, on the west coast of Africa. This port dominates the Atlantic shipping routes over a great area and the Germans long have had an eye on occupying it.

BUFFALO, N. Y. — If the fish won't bite, John Perkins, Currier-Wright Corp. employee, knows what to do about it. He's invented a hook which bites the fish instead. Perkins says the hook works by springs and grabs the fish when it nudges the bait.

FATHER DASHES BOY ON ROCK, KILLS HIM

Parent, Enraged by Quarrel, To Face Murder Charge.

OAKLAND, Calif., May 5 — A quiet family drive yesterday ended in tragedy—a three-year-old boy killed by being dashed against a rock by his enraged father.

Police Lieutenant G. W. Pratt said the father, Lyndon Beal, 30, Oakland automobile welder, had confessed, and undoubtedly would be charged with first degree murder.

Beal's confession said he became angry after young Lyndon kept quarreling away from his mother.

Beal seized Lyndon by the heels, swung him over his head and dashed the boy against a granite curb.

He then threw the body into the car and sped off leaving the mother and second child behind. A half mile he stopped the car and again hurled the boy, presumably dead then, against a rock.

The body was in the car when two men who saw the incident, caught Beal in a dead-end road, fought him and quieted him with a blow over the head with a tire iron.

"Lyndon got my goat. He wouldn't mind," Pratt quoted him. "He and his little brother kept fighting. I

This is a Toaster
Gay Nineties model. There was a time when every home had one.

Then somebody invented a better toaster. HE ADVERTISED IT. Everybody wanted it—and soon everybody had the new-type toaster instead of the old-fashioned grill.

This is an Electric Toaster
It is new and modern. Since it was first advertised many people have wanted it—many people have bought it. Every day more and more homes have electric toasters.

This is an Inventor
He is inventing an electric toaster.

This is an Advertisement
It is advertising an electric toaster. The advertisement is just as important as the inventor. It shows people what the new toaster looks like, explains how it works, quotes its price and tells where to buy it.

IF THE PUBLIC DIDN'T KNOW THESE THINGS, THERE WOULD BE SO FEW OF THE NEW-TYPE TOASTERS MADE THAT MOST PEOPLE COULDN'T AFFORD THEM.

Once, everybody had a grill toaster. Manufacturers knew that the only way to get people to buy more toasters was to offer them better toasters. One manufacturer invented a better toaster. He advertised it.

THE RESULT WAS THAT ALL HIS COMPETITORS HAD TO MAKE BETTER TOASTERS.

COMPETITION is what makes one manufacturer want to make a better product than another manufacturer. ADVERTISING is the way he tells the public, "My product is better than it was before."

Then, of course, his competitor improves his product, so that he can truthfully advertise that his product is better, too.

So our standard of living is being improved every day because we are getting better products for the same or less money.

Competition is what is improving our standard of living. Advertising is what keeps competition alive.

THUS ADVERTISING IS ONE OF THE MOST VITAL FORCES IN RAISING OUR STANDARD OF LIVING.

When business is better in this town everybody benefits. When everybody in the town knows what's going on all over the world, each man can tell better how to vote, what to buy and how to protect himself.

Read these ads each week. Tell your friends to read them. They tell you what an important part your newspaper has in helping you to know what's going on, so you can decide what you personally are going to do about it all.

Red Sox Jolt Tribe 11-8; Reds' Fourth Inning Outburst Beats Giants

Al Milnar Uneffective As Indians Outthit Boston Sluggers 15 to 11.

By The Associated Press
BOSTON, May 5.—It took the Red Sox to emphasize something the Cleveland Indians have been hoping wasn't true—that Al Milnar's pitching effectiveness is below par.

The Bostonians gave the Tribe its second defeat in a row yesterday, 11 to 8, although Cleveland had more hits, 15 to 11, and made fewer errors, two against three, and accounted for all three home runs—Jeff Heath's fourth, and the first of the season by Ray Mack and Otto Demning. But Milnar let the Sox get a flying start, and they kept in front.

Ever since spring practice began, Milnar's fast ball has been anything but that. In his first start of the season, the Tiger shelled him for 8 hits in 5-1-3 innings.

In his second try, Al won from the St. Louis Browns, against the White Sox, he lasted 3 innings, after which the Indians rallied to win. Against Philadelphia Milnar was good for 3-1-3 innings.

Against Boston yesterday, Al was wild and ineffective. The result was that the Cleveland club's first-place lead over the front runners was jolted. In the three innings he pitched, he allowed only one hit per inning, but the opposition scored three in the first and four in the third by capitalizing on five bases on balls and a hit batter.

It was in the seventh, however, that Boston put the clincher in the game by scoring three runs on Jim Tabor's single, Pete Fox's triple and single by Bobby Deery and Don Duggan, off Steve Green.

Obviously, the Indians kept up their recent pace. Heath's home run came in the fourth, Mack's in the sixth and Demning's in the eighth, each with the bases empty. Four runs on five hits, with a pair of errors moved in made the eighth Cleveland lead.

Vernon Kennedy, who in two starts has won from the Browns and the Athletics, threw the Indians' ninth assignment today.

The New York Yankees crushed the Chicago White Sox again, 6-1, by hitting five hits in a big third inning and keeping the Sox out until the ninth, when an error by Phil Rizzuto after two were out opened up a scoring chance.

The Detroit Tigers maintained their hold on second place by whipping the Philadelphia Athletics, 6-1, with a 1-2-4 attack.

The 4-0 Louis at Washington game was postponed.

SPRINGFIELD LEADS MID-ATLANTIC LOOP

Edges Canton 2 to 1 for Second Win.

By The Associated Press
CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 5.—The Erie Sailors, considered the team to show other Mid-Atlantic league clubs how its done this year, still are taking lessons themselves.

They emerged on the short end of a 7-4 score with Charleston last night, second straight victory for the Senators despite 10 hits the Sailors picked off Bob Kuzak, but Kuzak kept the hits pretty well scattered while his teammates, Bob Tipton in particular, picked 13 off two Erie hurlers. Tipton had two triples and a homer.

Zanesville was pressed 10 innings to win a 4-0 over a persistent Dayton club. Dayton tied it up in the ninth, went ahead in its half of the tenth, and then succumbed to a pair of singles and two bunts that gave Zanesville two runs.

Springfield shoved across one run in the eighth and ninth frames to whip Canton 2 to 1. Rookie Ivy Gibson allowed the stock town batters a bare three hits.

USE OF IRON, STEEL RESTRICTED BY U. S.

Making of 400 Common Products Banned by Order. WASHINGTON, May 5—The iron and steel that go into the production of peace and pleasure items today are ordered poured into the crucibles of war.

General conservation order M-126, the most sweeping yet issued by the war production board, directs thousands of manufacturing plants to stop within 90 days all use of the metals needed for war.

Manufacturers of more than 400 common products in every day use were affected, along with thousands of wholesalers, distributors, jobbers, retailers and all their employees.

The consuming public was warned against receiving articles known to have been produced in violation of the order, and violation was made a criminal punishable by fine or imprisonment.

The order was regarded as a knock-out blow to the durable goods industry. Any plant that cannot shift to the manufacture of war materials, must shut down for the duration. There were some exceptions, such as the making of certain articles needed for repair or maintenance work, hospital equipment, etc., but the over-all effect was to ban the manufacture of such common products as bath tubs, cash registers, cigarette lighters, mail boxes, fountain pens, pie plates, waste baskets, tea pots, swivel chairs, slide fasteners, voting machines, and all novelties and souvenirs and Christmas tree ornaments.

Soldier's Uniform Found on Bank Of Gravel Pit

Sheriff's deputies were today checking on the army uniform of a corporal, which was found Sunday afternoon by two youthful swimmers, and gave their names as Dick Gustin and Bernard Drummond. The uniform was found near a gravel pit southwest of town.

The swimmers told police they saw a man, colored, sleeping on an army blanket while they were swimming in the neighborhood Saturday afternoon. They said when they returned to the area Sunday afternoon they found a light brown traveling bag and a soldier's uniform and hat in it. They turned the bag and uniform over to city police, who said they found papers in the uniform possibly identifying the owner as one Troy Whismant of Fremont.

They turned the bag and uniform over to sheriff's deputies today. Sheriff's deputies said today they are checking with the Fremont address in an attempt to trace the owner.

Patterson Reveals Army Goal Is 6 Million Men

WASHINGTON, May 5—The army is building up a strength of 6,000,000 men, Undersecretary of War Patterson disclosed today in testifying for the continuance of war production powers to commission civilians as army officers. Patterson pleaded with the house military committee not to "sabotage the whole effort by putting us in a strait-jacket," through strict restrictions on commissioning.

Defending the present policy of issuing commissions for administrative and technical personnel, he said, "I don't claim the system is perfect," but with an army of six million men not all of the officers would "be the very best men."

Previously it has been announced that the goal for this year was an army of 3,500,000 men. When the 6,000,000 figure could be attained was not disclosed.

88 SAILORS LANDED FROM TWO VESSELS

British and United Nations Ships Sunk. COCOA, Fla., May 5—Eighty-eight sailors from two torpedoed freighters—one British and one of the United Nations—have reached safely with spectacular stories of a heroic naval rescue at sea and of a gun crew that risked death to keep firing upon an axis submarine.

The navy revealed today that the two vessels fell victim to torpedoes off the eastern United States coast early on the morning of Sunday (May 3). Twenty-three men lost their lives in the sinkings. Seventeen of them died when a torpedo struck their lifeboat as it was being lowered. Another of the ship's crew was killed, and 16 survivors were brought to an east coast naval air station.

The other five were killed in the engine room from the medium-sized British freighter, from which 42 survivors were brought to the naval station.

Two navy men, Ensign John F. Gray of Chambersburg, Ill., and Radioman James Wesley White of Jacksonville, Fla., were heroes in rescuing Thomas Jones, 27-year-old able-bodied seaman of Birkenhead, England.

Jones suffered a broken leg when the United Nations ship was sunk and for three hours clung to a piece of wreckage where he was sighted from a plane by the two navy men.

Gray landed the small plane on the water, strewn with wreckage, and while swam to the injured man, lifted him onto a raft and fashioned for him a crude splint made from a floating board and canvas from the raft.

Then the canvas was hoisted into the plane, and Radioman White remained on the raft while Jones was rushed to land for medical treatment. White later was picked up by another plane.

HAILSTORM CAUSES HARDIN CO. LOSS

Fruit Hard Hit and Barns Are Unroofed. KENTON, O., May 5—Additional tales of damage were recorded today in offices of hard insurance agents as Hardin county marked down its worst hailstorm.

Striking with particular force in southwestern Hardin county and traveling northward, the point west of here the usual hail smashed hundreds of pines of choice, killed many barns, unroofed barns of a dozen farms and caused unestimated damage to build up fruit trees.

Hail that ranged in size from strawberry to hen egg bounced eight or ten feet high in hard solid places on the earth. Steve Stemman, west of Kenton, suffered a severe cut on his head when a large piece of ice struck him as he attempted to take his chickens into their brooder house.

Ed Howe, who had a cut on his arm, was unroofed a part of his building 150 pounds of hail. His refrigerator, "I want you to buy any ice for a week or so," he grinned.

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Hair Functions

NOT LONG ago in this column I mentioned that there had been a report of the discovery of a new vitamin which would prevent the graying of hair. I said that I had seen some of the experiments with this vitamin in a biology laboratory on gray rats. I also said, most emphatically, that I did not believe its use in human beings would be attended with success, that I did not believe that it would prevent the graying of hair nor restore gray hair to its original color, and did not advise anybody to experiment with it until further investigation had been made.

Just to show how impressive such statements in the press are, there has not been a day gone by since then, but that someone has written me, asking me where they can obtain the vitamin which I recommended to prevent the graying of hair. This is a little discouraging to a publicist, so I repeat the statement.

But I am encouraged and very much interested by a report in the Journal of the American Medical Association from Dr. Alex Hrdlicka, one of the most eminent ethnologists in the world. Ethnologists, as you know, have a good deal to do with hair and therefore Dr. Hrdlicka's discussion comes with authority.

Just what is hair and what are its functions? It will not do to answer this by saying that hair is an appendage of the skin and serves for a protection of the body. It does that, but that is not the whole story.

Hair is really a kind of organ serving a number of purposes besides mere passive protection. It increases the sensitivity of the skin. It has esthetic and mating significance and particularly, so far as this discussion is concerned, through its pigment it is an important means of elimination of certain by-products of nutrition.

In enlarging a hair one thousand times, it will be seen to contain a good deal of melanin. This is a pigment which is a by-product of nutrition and needs to be removed from the body and the hair is nearly the only organ for this elimination. "Make a count of the hair that man cuts and loses during his life," says Dr. Hrdlicka, "and the material thus eliminated will assume a respectable proportion." The ordinary graying of hair means not that melanin is changing or losing color, but that less and less of it is formed and hence present. Entirely gray or white hair is that which is quite free from melanin.

It is possible that under starvation and prolonged severe strain production of melanin in the body ceases and therefore the hair turns gray for a while, and as health is restored its natural color returns. The prisoner whose hair turned white in a single night, however, is a myth so far as scientific investigation has shown up to the present time, because the melanin is dead and cannot possibly be decolorized by any mental effect. It is possible

Report of Long Distance Phone Talk Proves That "Charles" Is Really Jack Bickell.

MY THROAT muscles were so constricted as I heard Sadie's words that I found difficulty in uttering a coherent response. But from somewhere I pumped up the ability to exclaim "What did Professor Diswell say to the man? Was he cordial?"

"He was more than that!" Sadie answered, and the operator said he fairly bubbled over, he seemed to glow to hear the man's voice.

"Shawn!" he repeated. "Shawn Rue. Indeed I remember you. What?"

"You must not remember my last name," the man said quickly. "Do not speak it. I am in great danger, and you are the only person to whom I dare turn. Tell me who can overhear our talking."

"The old man waited a little before answering. 'Nobody but the telephone operators,' he said, 'and they are a high class, discreet lot of girls. I doubt if they will even listen to our conversation.'"

Kept on Listening

"I guess the operator's ears burned at that," Sadie said, "but she didn't stop listening."

"I have a private line," Professor Diswell went on. "It costs me a fortune, but it's worth it; and it has paid for itself tonight, if it makes you safe."

"It will," the New York man said, "and I want to ask you a great favor."

"Anything, my dear lad; anything in my power," the old man said.

"I know that," the New York man answered. "I have no place to go where I can be safe, except to you, for nobody knows our connection. Can I come to you? I have just about enough money to get there, although I can put my hands on more later."

"Don't talk of that now," the professor said. "Start this minute and come right to me. Do you know where to come?"

"No."

"Go to the Grand Central station and take a New York, New Haven and Hartford train, getting off at Cornwall Bridge, Connecticut. If I am not at the train, walk away from the track, around the corner to the right, then on past the postoffice. There I'll be looking for you. And—be there!"

That sudden graying may occur from the formation of bubbles of gas in the medulla of the hair.

Viewed in this scientific manner, it is difficult to see how any vitamin can possibly affect gray hair. Early in the process of graying a vitamin might possibly fix melanin in the body for a short time, but this process would steadily grow more difficult with time until it became impossible.

any way I can get you some money."

"Bless you, old New York man," I have enough for something to eat and to get me out there. Goodbye, dear friend. I'll see you."

"Good-bye, Shawn," the old professor said. "It will be like mama from heaven to see you again. God bless you and keep you till you come to me."

Reveals Secret Under Orders

"The operator said that the 'Ames' the New York man said just before he hung up the receiver was just what was said in church."

"My thank to the girl and to you," I told her some day I'll tell you what you have done for me. My lips are necessarily sealed just now."

"I understand," the old professor said. "I am very glad to have been of service. Is there anything more I can do?"

"Not a thing now," I said. "Thank you again and good-bye."

"Good-bye," he returned. Then, putting up the receiver, I sank back into my chair, my hands tightly clenched together, while I faced the tremendous discovery which her account of that nocturnal telephone conversation had brought me.

Knows "Charles" as Jack

For just as the pieces of a jigsaw puzzle fall into place when some key piece is discovered, the whole mystery of Charles, the carved ivory cube and Professor Diswell's queer behavior had been revealed to me when Sadie said the man from New York, wishing to reverse a call to the old professor, had identified himself as "Shawn Rue."

Now I knew at last the whereabouts of my brother-cousin, Jack Bickell, who sometimes had been called, half jestingly, half affectionately, "Shawn Rue." I was sitting now in my father's armchair, looking at the clock, when the armed bandits seeking Jack had so cruelly mistreated. And he was unquarreling under the name of Charles, in the guise of the old professor's servant.
